This bulb, also known as Lycoris Squamigera, is one of the most interesting of the Amaryllis family. It produces attractive green foliage in the spring which disappears in midsummer. About a month later, as if by magic, the flower stock appears, bearing clusters of 7 to 12 fragrant lily-shaped flowers of delicate lilac-pink. Perfectly hardy in the northern states and may be left in the ground year after year unmolested. Cover with dirt 4 inches.

PACIFIC HYBRID DELPHINIUM

This is by far the finest strain of Delphinium in existence today. Magnificent spikes of inspiring beauty, with exquisitely formed flowers arranged on strong cane-like stems. Disease resistant.

We are offering this year strong, young plants of Pacific Hybrid Delphinium. Transplanted in time to become established before the ground freezes, they grow more rapidly, and bring far better results in a shorter time than the old clumps. We prefer distribution of one-year-old plants rather than two-year-old clumps, which seldom bring good results, as it takes a year to get them re-established. One-year-old plants will produce fine blooms the following spring.

Plant in a well-drained, sunny location. The soil must be alkaline; if doubtful, work some lime into the soil. Do not plant closer than two feet apart. Water well, and cultivate around plants after they become established.

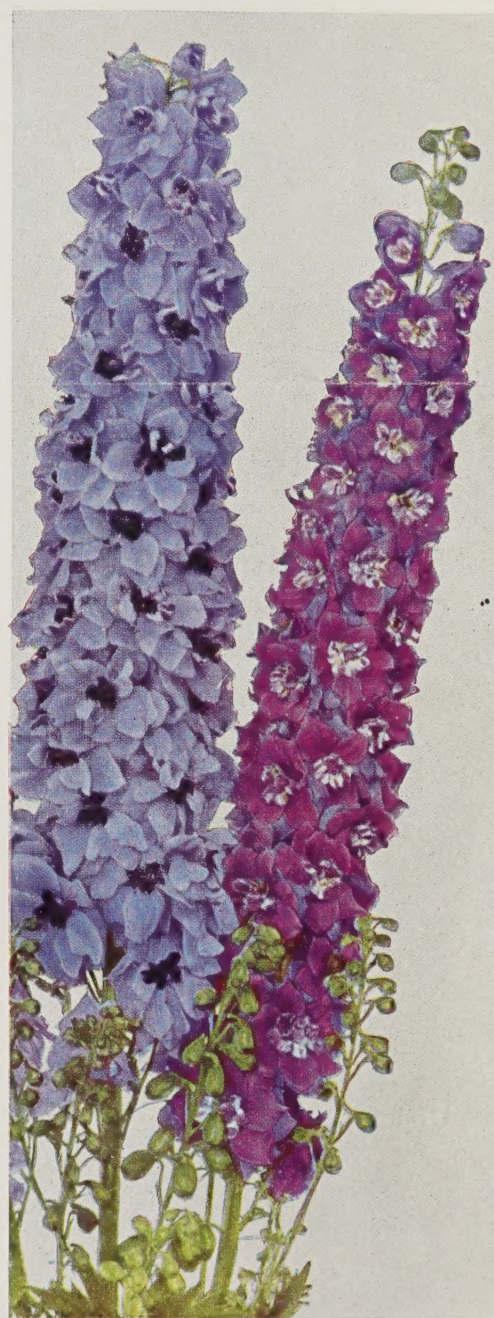

Galahad Series—Clear white flowers with velvety texture. Very heavy branching and long trusses of flowers make them ideal for cut flower purposes.

King Arthur Series—A rich, royal purple with large white bee, and the beautifully-formed, long spikes are carried on thin, woody stems.

Guinevere Series—A clear, pink-lavender self, with white bee; with very large individual flowers averaging up to 3 inches in diameter.

Summer Skies Series—As the name indicates, this is the blue of a summer sky with white bees representing fleecy clouds; a color long sought in the hybrid delphiniums.

Cameliard—This is a rare lavender self with white bee.
